- Visiting people in need, such as elderly or disabled people, on a regular basis to provide assistance with shopping, gardening or other domestic tasks, or simply to keep them company
- Empathy listening, mediation, mentoring to the new leaders/members of the club
- Voluntary work in hospitals and care centers
- Helping with a local community radio, newspaper or blog
- Sports coaching or leadership
- First aid – doing a course and then making their skills available to the benefit of the local community, ie: being a first-aider at football matches or dance competitions and so on

Youth work

- Acting in a leadership role in a youth club or uniformed youth organization
- Assisting in the teaching of primary school children,

Community education and health education

- Involving in your school or in neighboring schools.
- Working with experienced persons to educate the local community, or specific groups within it, on important issues such as prevention of dengue, plague, menstrual hygiene, first aid, combating STDs, primary health care, immunization campaigns, awareness education on drug and alcohol use
- Teaching a person to read or write

Environmental service

- Participating in a conservation project such as clearing wasteland, cleaning a river, or caring for threatened wildlife or trees
- Caring for a public or school garden

- Providing, maintaining and encouraging the use of public waste collection
- Caring for nature: plants / animals
- Working in a clean-up campaign
- Promoting environmental sustainability

Charity work

- Creating or maintaining a charity website or newsletter

Emergency services

- Helping an emergency service team, such as the fire services, police, mountain rescue or civil defense
- Assisting with local or national disaster operations

Collaboration

- Extending collaboration with local organizations; youth clubs, schools, redcross, leos, rotaracts, Jaycees, lions, rotary clubs, government offices, women groups, NGOs, INGOs..

* The activities listed above are the activities that our peace clubs members have implemented in their respective schools and communities. We welcome the leaders from our peace clubs to look for more possible activities that can contribute for themselves and also the wider communities, so we can add to the list and inspire other groups too.
